Change the Story – A Game to Alter Reality.

Linking Project-Based Learning to Service Learning to Help Solve 5 Major Injustices

By Ralph Singh

Prejudice and Hate

Bullying

Elder Neglect

Environmental Degradation

Poverty

What if you could change the story of our world?

Our media is dominated by violence and conflict, killings and conflict in shows and games, and the ideological gridlock and confrontations that our news bombards us with. In short, the world is not a pretty place. How could we change the story?

Wisdom Thinkers uses the power of stories, foundational wisdom stories you may have learned when you were younger, to change the way people think about a problem - to reveal hidden ways that we can change the world by changing the story.

“Students want their studies to be relevant to their lives and feel they can have an impact on the world around them. Using “Change the Story” they can link project-based learning to service learning to help solve some of the intractable problems of our times” Ralph Singh

“Change the Story” was conceived as a learning game allowing students, and adults, to take control of their lives and the world around them.

Each Game contains 5 packets that can change the world.
